J. Russell Marble of Worcester was one of the principal speakers at the meeting of the board. He thought that the Senators from Massachusetts should be requested to use their authority to see that the proper powers were given the Interstate Commerce Commission, after he had spoken.
T. Schaeffer offered his resolution of condemnation, which was adopted, after
Mr. Marble had stated that he thought the New York, New Haven & Maine Railroad should come under the Interstate Commerce Act.

"My journey to Japan was most delightful," he said. "The Emperor treated me with the utmost consideration, and did everything in his power to make my trip to the empire a pleasant one."

"Those who have been talking about the Japanese people for the last four or five years have no idea of their intelligence. While their life is one of simplicity, they are very artistic and one of the most courteous people in the world. They are wonderful intelligent; they have what I would call unique intelligence."

"The Catholic church in Japan is in a very flourishing condition. There are no impediments put in its way, and it is getting on beautifully. Of course, I cannot HARTFORD, Ct., March 13.—Two masked men entered the home of Fred Young, in Newington, bound and gagged his mother, the only occupant, and escaped with several articles of jewelry and nearly $300.

The men watched the house, and appeared as soon as Mr. Young left for work. Mrs. Young desperately fought the robbers. She was found, still bound and gagged, by a caller two hours later.

DENVER, Col., March 13.—Mrs. Bell Fenwick appealed to Governor McDonald yesterday to hear her story of the kidnapping of Mabel Reita Sully, and secured the Governor's promise to allow her to appear in person with her attorneys and present affidavits in justification of her action at the hearing on the application for her extradition to Massachusetts. If the Massachusetts officer arrives here the hearing will be held to-day.

In reply to the question whether the Catholic Church admits there is salvation for any outside its folds, I say yes, it does admit there is salvation for any upright man who follows his conscience, who lives up to the light he receives. He seeks the truth and embraces it.

Such a man belongs to the school of the Catholic Church. He is at heart a Catholic. But if a man thinks he is not in the true Church of Christ and does not investigate, that man is in bad faith.—THE REV. ALEXANDER P. DOYLE, Paulist father conducting mission at Holy Cross Cathedral.

The words were not elegant, but their insouciance hit the truth sufficiently near to reduce the person in whom they were addressed to a state of speechlessness. "I beg your pardon," the pseudo Olive Grahams laughed, as if she realized that it was useless to know the pretence.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

55 AND 52 SUMMIT ST., BOSTON, MARCH 13, 1908

The Earth—Our
Only Real Wealth

To Own Part of It Means TO BE PROTECTED FROM POVERTY

But BUY real estate.

It is clear that the only real and indestructible possession of the human race is THE EARTH UPON WHICH WE LIVE. With our brains we DEVELOP our property. The earth is the property. We all depend upon it; we all need it for our food, for our very existence. We are dependent upon a house, a roof. LUCKY THE MAN WHO CAN POINT TO A HOUSE, HOWEVER HUMBLE, AND SAY, "THAT BELONGS TO ME."

Great fortunes have been made through wise buying of real estate. Greater fortunes will be made in the future in that direction.

We want to talk to-day, not to the man looking for a great real estate fortune, but to the man looking FOR A GOOD, MODEST INVESTMENT OR A HOME.

The city of Boston, in its suburban property, like the other great cities of the nation, will give to the wise investor such opportunities in the course of the next year or two as may never come again.

In the first place, science is entering a stage in rapid transit—OF DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION—such as the world has never seen.

If you buy land WISELY anywhere near a great city, YOU CAN NOT HELP MAKING MONEY. And what is more important, if you keep your land, you will have the location of a home to which you can retire when you need it.

The great problem to which you should apply yourself IS WISE BUYING. First of all, be sure that you are getting land within reach of railways or trolley lines—WITHIN EASY REACH. All the difference in the value of property in the suburbs depends upon the difference in railway service.

Remember, however, that the steam railway of to-day WILL BE THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY OF TO-MORROW, and there lies your chance of big profit and great convenience.

Look over the land carefully before you buy it. Compare prices. DON'T GET EXCITED; don't buy in a hurry. Remember that there are hundreds of square miles around the city that will not be built up for many years. Be sure that you buy IN THE DIRECTION OF TRAVEL.

Don't buy more than you can EASILY pay for. The instalment plan is a great convenience for those who lack capital. But it may be also a great calamity for those who lack common sense.

Instalment buying may enable you to be economical, to save, make yourself rich, owning the property AS IT RISES IN VALUE, and getting the increase.

On the other hand, that very instalment plan may mean ruin and loss of property if you agree to pay instalments beyond your means.

Among other things, as you think of buying property to-day, remember that MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF STREET CARS AND RAILWAYS IS CERTAIN TO COME.

The ownership by the people of railroads will increase the value of land everywhere—as attention under government ownership will be paid to the profit of the people, THE HOME SEEKERS.

Be cautious in your buying. Look around carefully. Remember the value of schools near at hand or reached inexpensively by rail.

But when you have used your best judgment, BUY YOUR REAL ESTATE, GET YOUR SITE FOR A HOME.

Then vote and work for PUBLIC OWNERSHIP, for the welfare of all the community, which will mean your own welfare AND THE IMPROVEMENT OF YOUR PROPERTY.

The editor of this newspaper realizes most keenly the importance of conservative, thoughtful citizens, WITH A REAL FAITH AND INTEREST IN LAW AND ORDER AND REALITY.

We should like to see as many of the people as possible owning part of the land, interested in the welfare of all and justly suspicious of the wild and irresponsible projects of the hare-brained, incompetent and irresponsible.

Buy real estate.

Is the "Pin-Money
Woman" a Menace?

By Rev. Albert E. George

ASK you one of the women how selfish is an important item working for pin money? In many a woman's home, you will find a woman who is a danger lurking in every corner and everywhere but in the kitchen. It often drives to the edge of madness to work, but who else will the woman who is forced to work over-zealous to add to their income. In order to live.

They enter the field of labor. It gives her a smaller opportunity to earn a little money, but it cuts down wages to a narrow margin.

They may be present in their own home, but they are not in the kitchen. They are in the living room, in the parlor, in the study, in the library, in the dining room, in the bedroom, in the bathroom, in the kitchen, in the cellar, in the attic, in the garage, in the stable, in the barn, in the field, in the woods, in the mountains, in the valleys, in the plains, in the deserts, in the forests, in the prairies, in the tundra, in the steppes, in the savannas, in the mangroves, in the swamps, in the marshes, in the bays, in the harbors, in the rivers, in the lakes, in the seas, in the oceans, in the atmosphere, in the earth, in the sun, in the moon, in the stars, in the planets, in the galaxies, in the universe.

They may be present in their own home, but they are not in the kitchen. They are in the living room, in the parlor, in the study, in the library, in the dining room, in the bedroom, in the bathroom, in the kitchen, in the cellar, in the attic, in the garage, in the stable, in the barn, in the field, in the woods, in the mountains, in the valleys, in the plains, in the deserts, in the forests, in the prairies, in the tundra, in the steppes, in the savannas, in the mangroves, in the swamps, in the marshes, in the bays, in the harbors, in the rivers, in the lakes, in the seas, in the oceans, in the atmosphere, in the earth, in the sun, in the moon, in the stars, in the planets, in the galaxies, in the universe.

Many a woman is forced to turn her living through distant driving stances. If they cannot find work, they find themselves upon the streets of poverty. For sympathy is naturally with the class.

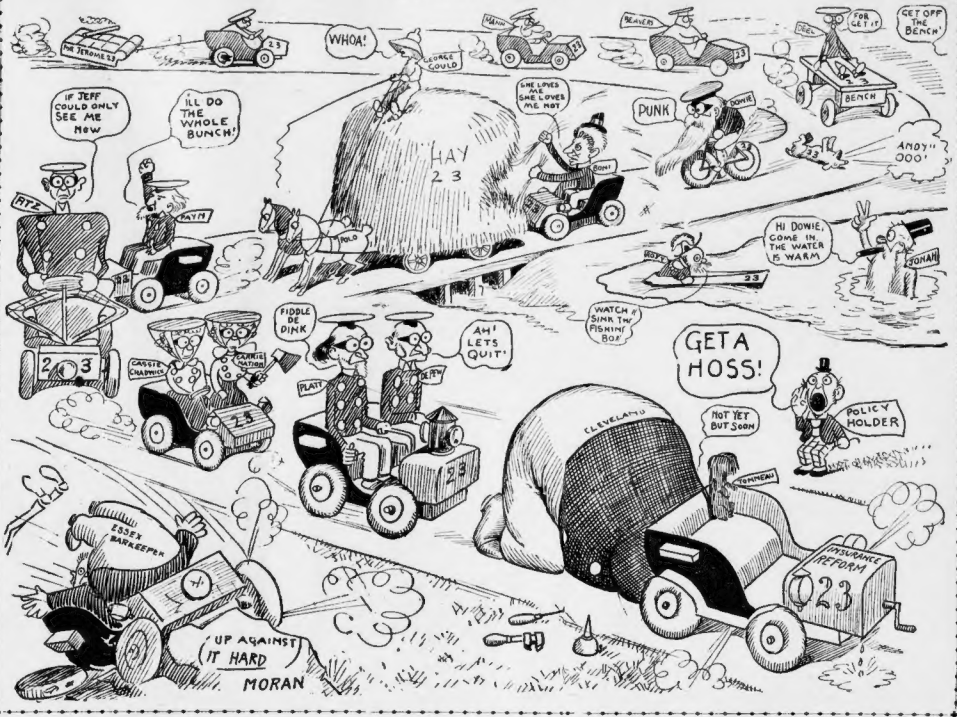

The pin money competitor takes radically wrong. Some employers are what wages she can get. She knows the rights of the woman who there are many things she would like to do, but she cannot do them.

Her husband does not always give to the woman who is content to interfere in the venture of the woman who is content to work in order to live.

An Ode to Time
By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

(Copyright, 1908, by American Journal Association.)

SPORTSMAN Time, whose chargers fleet
The moments, maddeningly
Trot in the dust beneath their feet
Sweet hopes that years have given:
Turn, turn aside those reckless steeds
Oh! do not urge them my way.
There's nothing that Time wants or needs
In this contented by-way.

You have down-trodden in your race
So much that proves your power;
Why not avoid my humble place—
Why rob me of my power?
With your vast collars, cavern deep,
Packed tier on tier with treasures,
You would not miss them should I keep
My little store of pleasure.

As one who frightened, flying flings
Her riches down at random,
You care not for the precious things
Life casts before your tandem.
The warrior's fame, the conqueror's crown,
Great crowds for ages cherished,
Beneath your chariot wheels were thrown,
And, crushed to earth, they perished.

Although to just and generous deeds
Your heart is not a stranger,
I have the feeling that one needs
To guard his wealth from danger.
And though a most heroic fight
On your pathway lingers,
I'd hide my treasure, if I might,
From contact with your fingers.

You are the loyal friend of Truth,
Go seek her, make her stronger,
And leave the remnant of my youth
To me a little longer.
There's work enough for you before
Eternity shall end you;
Why stoop to steal my simple store—
Why make me shun and dread you?

You do not need my love, I say,
Home, love and friends untold;
I beg you turn and go the way
Where wrong waits to be righted,
Or pause, and let us chat awhile,
Till I listen too near you.
For oh! no matter how you smile,
I fear you, Time, I fear you!
